

Horticulture & Business Management

'A highlight of the study so far has been the numerous visits to companies across many domains of the sector, as well as the freedom in a lot of our study to pursue the things that we are interested in.'

In short

Did you know the Netherlands is the second largest exporter of vegetables, flowers, and other agricultural products? It makes sense, therefore, that other countries would like to learn from our expertise in the field of horticulture. In the English-taught bachelor's programme Horticulture & Business Management you will learn all about cultivation and business to become an all-round professional in horticulture. All this is set in an international environment, with students from all over the world.

- + Focus on high tech open and protected cultivation based on the Dutch situation and developments.
- + Building your professional network through projects in collaboration with companies in the horticultural sector.
